House Leaders Restore Sales Tax To Two Per Cent

Action Puts Off Showdown
Until Tuesday

Harrisburg (AP) — The one per cent sales tax proposal was upped to its original two per cent rate yesterday in a surprise move by House Republican backers who postponed a showdown vote.

The action puts off until at least next Tuesday a final vote on the heated issue.

The tax rate was sliced in half Wednesday when the Senate Republican majority said only a one per cent levy could pass that upper chamber. The Senate is in recess until Monday.

The decision to avert a quick vote on the sales tax came at a closed session of the GOP majority as the stage was set for an attempt to push a one per cent levy through the House.

Speaker Charles C. Smith refused to concede to newsmen that the action was taken because the GOP majority did not have the necessary 105 votes. However, other Republicans insisted that was the case. At least seven GOP members were publicly against the sales tax.

Meanwhile, in the Senate Rowland B. Mahony (R-Mercer), majority floor leader, said he could not deliver 27 Republican senators for a 2 per cent levy. That is the number required to pass Senate proposals.

Mahony said, however, it would be necessary for Senate leaders to wait for the House's final action on the bill before any steps could be taken in the upper chamber. Smith said the Republican caucus took the attitude that the higher rate was necessary to eliminate 110 1/2 million dollars of so-called "nuisance" taxes now in effect.

"The feeling changed completely overnight," Smith said.

Rep. Albert W. Johnson, GOP floor leader, said authoritative estimates revising downward the total anticipated revenue under a sales tax also "had something to do" with the decision.

Johnson said additional sales tax exemptions made Wednesday night would cut 23 millions from the 280 million revenue estimate from the two per cent levy.

The new exemptions ranged from making 10-cent purchases tax-free to exempting farm equipment and supplies and medicine obtained by prescription from the tax.

Gov. John S. Fine has estimated 157 millions are needed to balance the commonwealth's proposed $1,400,000,000 budget for the next biennium.

Johnson said 15 1/2 millions in budget economies are planned, cutting back actual revenue needs to 138 1/2 millions.

Since the two per cent sales tax would bring in 257 millions, that would leave 118 1/2 millions in surplus revenue beyond budget requirements. Most of this slack would be taken up, however, by repealing 110 1/2 millions in so-called "nuisance" taxes.

Fine has taken no public stand on the sales tax question.

Reuther Warns Of Communist Plan

Philadelphia (AP) — CIO President Walter P. Reuther observed yesterday that Communists may be seeking to conquer the U. S. "through the back alley" with peace overtures intended to create a business depression.

"The Communists," Reuther declared, "may figure that perhaps they can't conquer the free world by the direct approach. If they try in the back alley maybe they figure they will lull us to sleep and get another depression going."

The labor leader spoke to 1,200 delegates attending the 16th annual convention of the Pennsylvania CIO Council.

U.S., Reich
Reach New Agreements

Washington (AP) — The United States and West Germany yesterday cautioned the free world against any relaxation of vigilance in the face of Soviet "peace" proposals and announced a series of new agreements to strengthen ties between the two nations.

A communique at the conclusion of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's talks with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles said the United States renewed a pledge to help arm German military units once the six-nation European Defense Treaty has been ratified.

The two governments will start negotiations soon on a new treaty to restore normal commercial relations, it was announced. The U. S. on its part agreed to consider helping the Bonn government deal with a flood of Iron Curtain refugees, re-examine the status of war criminals and return some 350 small vessels received as war reparations.

Ike Assures
Hall Election
As GOP Head

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower joined other GOP leaders yesterday in endorsing Leonard W. Hall of New York for chairman of the Republican National Committee. This makes his election today a certainty.

At the same time the national committee issued a statement singling the praises of the first 75 days of the Eisenhower administration as a period of "memorable and significant" results.

The committee listed what it called "75 accomplishments based upon 13 pledges" made during the campaign, in the inaugural address, and in the State of the Union message.

The report will be furnished committee members when they meet today to choose a successor to C. Wesley Roberts.

Among the "strides forward" made on each pledge, the report mentioned creation of a new executive Department of Health, Education and Welfare with cabinet rank. It also listed budget cuts of $444,707,300 promised by the first six departments and 13 independent agencies to report on efforts to trim the 1953-54 Truman budget. The committee recalled that Truman said it could not be cut.

Symington,
Pace Defend
Army Brass

Washington (AP) — Sen. Symington (D-Mo) said yesterday that civilian heads of the Defense Department slashed funds for ammunition just before the Chinese Reds jumped into the Korean War late in 1950.

Symington, former secretary of the Air Force, said the Joint Chiefs of Staff had asked for two billion dollars for ammunition and the civilian heads cut it to one billion. At that time, Gen. George C. Marshall was secretary of defense and Robert A. Lovett, who later became secretary, was under secretary.

Symington injected his statement into hearings on Korean ammunition supplies before a Senate armed services subcommittee.

He said he was astounded that Lovett had "dumped" responsibility for ammunition scarcities "primarily on the Army to the exclusion of the Defense Department." Lovett testified Wednesday that the Army as a whole was to blame.

Symington, the first air secretary after the Air Force became a separate military branch, resigned in April, 1950.

He is not a member of the investigating subcommittee but he was allowed to ask some questions and make some observations at the end of a day of questioning Frank Pace Jr., former secretary of the Army, and Archibald S. Alexander, former under secretary of the Army.

Both Pace and Alexander testified that early in the war nobody in Washington was aware how much ammunition the Korean fighting would require.

In fact, said Pace, it was the judgment of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as well as the general thinking in Washington that the war in Korea would be over by the end of 1950.

Pace said he definitely got that impression when he attended the October, 1950, Wake Island meeting of President Truman and MacArthur, whom Truman fired as Far Eastern commander a few months later.

While ammunition production wasn't neglected, Pace said, there was "no real production" during the first two years of the war and it was necessary to dip into the large stocks left over from World War III.

Bethlehem Marine
Faces Charges
In Girl's Death

Grand Island, Neb. (AP) — Hall County Atty. Donald H. Weaver said yesterday that Richard D. Getter, 17-year-old Marine of Bethlehem, Pa., would be charged with motor vehicle homicide and abandoning a dead body in connection with the death of his girl companion.

On conviction of motor vehicle homicide, Getter could be sentenced to up to 10 years in prison. The other charge, on conviction, carries a penalty of one to three years in prison.

Weaver earlier made public Getter's story that his companion was fatally injured in a fall from a truck, but the county attorney said officials were skeptical of some of the details.

Chinese Claim
U.S. Air Ace
Held Captive

Tokyo, Friday, (AP) — The Chinese Communists said today they had shot down and captured Capt. Harold E. Fischer Jr., who often scorned his radar gunsight and shot down most of his 10 Red MIGs by aiming like a duck hunter.

A Peiping radio broadcast asserted that MIGs of the Chinese Red Air Force shot down the double jet ace Sabre pilot in a dogfight over Manchuria Tuesday, but all Allied pilots are forbidden to intrude in Manchuria's skies.

Fischer, of Suva City, Ia., last was seen by his wingman in a furious clash with a Red fighter near the Suifu Reservoir on the Yalu River, the boundary between Korea and Manchuria. The Communists often accuse the Allies of sending their planes over Manchuria.

The 27-year-old farm boy, one of the hottest pilots in Korea, was on his 70th mission hoping to add to the score which had made him the scourge of the Red Air Force.

Plumber Tells Of Shooting
Jessup Woman

Scranton (AP) — A 34-year-old plumber told police yesterday Margaret Grunick, garment factory worker from Jessup, was killed accidentally while struggling with him for possession of a pistol.

Andrew Moncak of Peckville, eight miles north of Scranton, was taken into custody by police attempting to solve the death of Miss Grunick last Monday night.

Dist. Atty. Carlton M. O'Malley of Lackawanna County, said Moncak admitted he was Miss Grunick's escort Monday night. He said they drove to a culm dump near Troop where they spent several hours shooting at rats with a .22-caliber pistol.

Later, in the car, Moncak said, Miss Grunick picked up the pistol and made a remark about scaring a friend from Boston into marrying her. When the girl refused to give up the gun, the plumber was quoted as saying, there was a struggle during which the pistol was discharged.

The bullet entered Miss Grunick's left temple and she died about two hours later in Scranton Mercy hospital.

Investigators said Moncak, married and the father of two children, served time in Lackawanna County jail and Eastern Penitentiary on robbery and larceny charges some years ago.

No charges have been filed against the plumber.

Brother-In-Law
Of Peron Kills
Self In Argentina

Buenos Aires, (AP) — Juan Duarte, 38-year-old brother-in-law of President Juan D. Peron, committed suicide yesterday in his apartment, the government announced. He shot himself to death but the government statement gave no details on his wounds.

The suicide of the late Eva Peron's brother created a sensation in Argentina, now in the midst of an economic crisis caused by the unrest of organized labor over rocketing prices.

Duarte had been Peron's private secretary since the President came to power in 1946 until last Monday when he resigned giving poor health as the reason. Resigning at the same time was Jose Maria Freire, Minister of Labor and Welfare in which office Eva Peron ran her million-dollar enterprise—the Social Aid Foundation.

South Koreans
Regain Lost
Hill Position

Seoul, Friday, (AP) — South Korean infantrymen lost Texas Hill last night but won the 2,000-foot Central Front peak in a surging counterattack early today.

Ground fighting elsewhere along the 155-mile Korean Front dwindled.

But U.S. Marines on Carson Hill, east of Panmunjom on the Western Front, were shelled by Reds and kept alerted by blaring bugle calls, shrill whistles and shouts, noises that often signal a Communist attack.

The Leathernecks recaptured the hill yesterday and knocked out more than two-thirds of 350 Communists in doing it.

An Eighth Army spokesman said the Allies inflicted only 1,982 casualties in the week of April 1-7, lowest since mid-February. The breakdown for the week ended Tuesday was: 1,140 Reds killed, 820 wounded, 22 captured.

In the air war yesterday and last night, 11 B-29 Superforts hit Red supply centers near the North Korean Red capital of Pyongyang and its port, Chinnampo. Their bombs caused secondary explosions, the Air Force said.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said between 200 and 250 Chinese attacked Texas at various times through the night. They came hurling grenades and firing their weapons under a terrific artillery barrage.

The Reds overran Carson Hill in a massive assault before dawn yesterday. But pockets of Marines battled on for more than three hours until a relief column drove up the slopes and recaptured the height.

A 1st Marine Division officer said sharpshooters Leathernecks killed or wounded an estimated 220 Reds between 3:45 a.m. when two Chinese companies swarmed up the hill, and 8:35 a.m. when the Marines again reported the hill secured.

Overcast skies curtailed aerial action yesterday. Marine Panther jets smashed a Red supply dump on the Haeju Peninsula behind the Western Front in the day's biggest strike.

Rail Strike
Talks Recess

Washington, (AP) — A meeting held by government mediators aimed at settling a two-week strike on the Lehigh and New England Railroad was recessed last night without developments.

The line operates in the Bethlehem, Pa., area.

Chairman Francis A. O'Neil Jr. of the National Mediation Board called company and union representatives to another meeting today.

The strike was called by the trainmen, conductors and firemen's unions in seeking settlement of grievances. The walkout of 150 men has idled all 600 of the carrier's workers, and caused production cutbacks at anthracite and cement companies served by the line.

The Justice Department declined to say how many firms will be named defendants, but indications were that as many as 20 might be involved, including giants of the industry here and abroad.

No Conclusions Reached On Permanent Split Of Korea,
Trusteeship For Formosa

Washington, (AP) — The White House said yesterday the Eisenhower administration has reached no conclusion that a permanent division of Korea is either desirable or feasible.

Further, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters, the administration has never decided that such a division would be "consistent with the decisions of the United Nations."

He also said there has been no consideration of a United Nations trusteeship for Formosa.

The statement came at a time when mounting possibilities for a temporary truce in Korea had stirred widespread discussion of plans for negotiating a more final, long-term peace settlement for the war-wrecked land.

It was noted that the White House pronouncement did not rule out any future agreement on some sort of division of Korea. It merely stressed that no conclusions or decisions have been reached yet.

It is known that a north-south dividing line at the narrow waist of Korea, about 80 miles north of present battle lines, is one idea which has been receiving official consideration here.

Hagerty said he was making his statement in response to requests comment on a story in the New York Times yesterday. The Times said "the Eisenhower administration is willing to accept a settlement based on a boundary at the narrow waist of the peninsula."

The stated U. N. policy has been to seek unification of all Korea under a single free, democratic government.

The Times also said the administration "is casting about for a solution that would assure an independent Formosa," the island retreat of Nationalist China's Chiang Kai-shek.

"A possibility being considered," the Times said, "is a United Nations trusteeship for that strategic island, with the creation of a republic of Formosa as the ultimate goal."

United Nations, N. Y., (AP) — Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky yesterday trotted out a batch of old Stalinist proposals—often beaten down in the U. N.—as elements of Premier Malenkov's new peace formula. Only on the subject of Korea did the Soviet chief delegate take account of recent developments.

U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross promptly tagged Vishinsky's two-hour speech to the U. N. Political Committee as "stale, dull and regressive—an old record played for the fourth time in 35 many years."

Obviously surprised that Vishinsky's proposals did not reflect the apparent new trend of conciliation coming from Moscow, Gross told Vishinsky the American people are "willing to go half way."

"The question is: half-way to what?" Gross added.

Here are the proposals that Vishinsky and his Polish associate, Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzyszewski, said would ease tension and help bring peace:

One—For the West to stop stuffing arms into its pockets and stop building up its armed forces.

Two—Ban the atomic bomb immediately and cut the armed strength of the five great powers by one-third.

Three—Dissolve the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, abandon the Schuman Plan, the European Defense Community, and stop plans for rearming Western Germany.

All these have been rejected by formal U. N. votes.

The only new element introduced by Vishinsky and Skrzyszewski was a revision which in effect recognized the recent developments in Korea.

Vishinsky endorsed the Polish resolution. It calls for "the immediate resumption of truce negotiations between the parties, it being understood that in the course of such negotiations the parties will exert every effort to reach agreement both on the question of the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war and on the question of prisoners of war as a whole, endeavoring thereby to remove the obstacles preventing the termination of the war in Korea."

Informal sources said the wedding was almost postponed at the last minute because the bride was so nervous and "overcome by emotion."

The royal couple flew last night to Rome for a two-month honeymoon, cruising the Mediterranean on the royal Belgian yacht and touring Africa, the informant said. Afterwards they will live in a 25-room mansion near Luxembourg.

The 33-year-old bridegroom, slim, dark and mustached and his apparent to the throne of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, a tiny nation whose large steel mills lend strength to the Atlantic ties. His blue-eyed bride of 25 is the sister of Belgium's young King Baudouin.

Luxembourg's ancient cathedral sparkled with blue, gold and scarlet uniforms of nobles from 11 nations and diplomats from all over the world, among them Mrs. Perle Mesta, resigned U. S. Minister to the duchy.

Three Kings, three Queens and 40 princes and princesses were among the 2,000 wedding guests. Never since the war has the European continent seen so many titles assembled, or such a display of royal pomp.

Places of honor near the altar went to former King Umberto and former Queen Marie-Jose of Italy; King Baudouin of Belgium; 76-year-old Queen Elizabeth, the bride's grandmother; Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, and Princess Liliane de Rethy, Leopold's second wife. The bride is the daughter of the late Queen Astride, Leopold's first wife.

120 Americans
On List To Be Returned

Munsan, Friday, (AP)—Rear Adm. John C. Daniel today said Allied and Red liaison teams hoped to complete and sign tomorrow an agreement for exchanging disabled war captives which would return 120 Americans, 20 British, 15 French, Turks, Canadians, Greeks and Dutch and about 450 South Koreans to the U. N. side.

The admiral said the Reds reported the breakdown of the Allied prisoner group during a 35-minute morning session at Panmunjom.

Agreement on exchanging disabled captives could lead to an Armistice in Korea.

If signed tomorrow, the exchange would start by April 21.

The Reds have agreed to return 600 captives and the Allies promised they would give 5,100 North Koreans and 700 Chinese.

Daniel, senior Allied liaison officer, said the teams hoped to work out all details of the agreement by tomorrow.

He said it would not be possible to sign today because the agreement must be checked by the interpreters and "to make sure there will be no chance of anybody getting hurt during their repatriation."

He added:

"I will do everything I can to have it signed tomorrow."

The admiral said Allied officers today presented a reworded draft copy of the sick and wounded exchange agreement and said they would seek agreement on final wording this afternoon. Daniel said also the agreement could be signed before details are completed by staff officers. They meet for the second time today at 1 p.m. to try to choose the exchange site in the neutral zone.

Earlier, the Allied negotiators had gone into the Panmunjom conference hall expecting to sign the agreement today.

But after 35 minutes the Reds asked for a recess until 2 p.m. (Thursday midnight, EST).

Plans call for the Communists to turn over 600 sick and wounded at the rate of 100 a day. The United Nations Command will deliver 5,100 North Korean and 700 Chinese sick and wounded at the rate of 500 a day.

In another move in the Communist peace offensive, the North Korean radio at Pyongyang announced that seven British civilians held since early in the war had been freed in Manchuria for repatriation.

A Communist correspondent at Panmunjom said it was unlikely Maj. Gen. William Dean would be among those sent home because the captured former 24th Division Commander was in excellent health. Dean is the highest ranking American captive. He was taken early in the war.

The Reds cleared the way late yesterday for the signing when they answered a handful of minor technical questions.

World Once Feared Lamps Would Destroy Eyesight; That Was 170 Years Ago

By Henry C. Nicholas

Washington — This year marks the 17th anniversary of one of man's most revolutionary inventions — the lamp. Most historians now recognize the invention of the lamp, which inaugurated the age of light and ended the long and dark candle lit nights of our ancestors, as the birth of the Industrial Age.

Yet, aside from an historical account of lighting in America written by C. Malcolm Watkins of the Smithsonian Institute, it seems that this "earth shaking" event which signaled the conquering of darkness on earth, will pass almost unnoticed.

In the long and shadowy candlelit world of 1783 appeared an obscure Swiss chemist, Ami Argand, with the first lamp constructed on scientific principles producing a brilliant light the equivalent of nine candlepower.

Argand was the first to make practical use of the lamp chimney, the daily cleaning of which used to be one of the regular chores of country children almost up to the present generation.

Originally it burned whale oil and the demand for it was so great that the whaling industry expanded about 1800. Opening of the petroleum fields in Pennsylvania in 1859 released an abundant supply of cheap and superior kerosene.

As it seems today, the invention of the lamp was followed by worldwide fear over the disastrous effects this most revolutionary invention would have on the future of man.

There were long and learned discussions over whether man's inventive genius has not at last produced a monster which could destroy his eyesight through the brilliance of the light he had produced.

An encyclopedia published some years after the invention of the Argand lamp urged people to use a small screen between their eyes and such powerful illumination. The Franklin Institute of Philadelphia warned of the "unpleasant, and in many ways painful, effects of such illumination."

Women, particularly, were warned not to destroy their beauty by looking at these "glaring rays of the sun, which showed up the lines of her face and made her appear much older than she was."

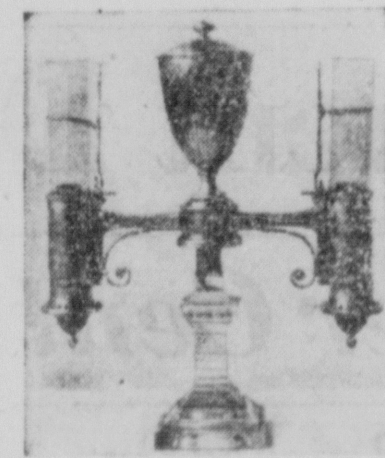

One early journal reported that "ladies, under protest against the glare and uncomfortableness of such bright lights, spread around parasols in evening soiree. A pink parasol judiciously held between a lady's face and this powerful illumination throws a tender, rosy glow over the complexion."

While well-to-do Americans, among them George Washington and Thomas Jefferson, had installed Argand lamps before 1800, it was some decades before the nation gave up its fear of this powerful illumination and adopted the new invention. Among the treasured possessions of Mount Vernon are two of the earliest of these lamps introduced in America. Until well along in the Nineteenth Century, however, in the rural sections candles held the foremost place.

Before the invention of the Argand lamp the manufacturer of candles was one of the important industries of the country.

Traveling at night in the candlelit era must indeed have been a dismal experience. Travelers were expected to supply their own candles on railroad trains and at wayside inns, long after the introduction of the Argand lamp.

On the Western railroad constructed in 1839 between Worcester and Springfield, Mass., a notable feature was that the new passenger car was equipped with a glass-enclosed frame beside each seat, where passengers placed their own candles. It was found, however, that often the passengers' candles did not fit these frames.

These two Argand lamps were among the prized possessions of Gen. and Mrs. George Washington.

Specialist Suggests Expanded Chest X-Ray Program In Fight Against Tuberculosis

Buck Hill Falls—An extensive program of X-rays was advocated yesterday by Dr. Robert V. Cohen, Philadelphia specialist addressing a joint meeting of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis and Health Society and Pennsylvania Trudeau Society at the Inn here.

Dr. Cohen, president of Trudeau Society, told his audience: "We must work on the principle that it is impossible to take too many chest X-rays."

Group Plans Program For Civil Defense

Board of direction and committee chairman of Lehigh Valley Chapter, Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers met yesterday in the treaty room of the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Discussion centered around the progress made by the chapter in the Civil Defense Program for Lehigh Valley. Plans to further this work were completed.

C. H. Frick, manager coal bureau of Pennsylvania Power & Light Co., Allentown is president. He conducted the meeting.

Nineteen attended including E. J. Kiefer, Stroudsburg, mechanical engineer with Rinker & Kiefer, Stroudsburg architects, and C. E. Drake, chief engineer Patterson-Kelley Co., East Stroudsburg.

Mr. Kiefer is a director and Mr. Drake is chairman of the code committee.

Delinquency Laid To Parents, TV

Pittsburgh (AP) — Safety Director George Fairley blamed a new wave of juvenile delinquency yesterday on television and indifference of parents.

Fairley's statement came as police rounded up teenagers following the fatal stabbing Sunday of a young Glen Hazel man.

Fairley said: "My own opinion is that at least 90 per cent of this difficulty begins with the indifferent or totally absent supervision of the children by parents."

"Another thing is the widespread use of television with a battle being carried on by stage robbers, bank bandits and so on for two and three hours almost every day in the week."

sanatoria; so long as every hospital patient is not adequately X-rayed; so long as there are undiagnosed or inadequately-treated people with tuberculosis in this State, this society has a tremendously important job to do—and I am sure that you will do it," Dr. Cohen told his listeners.

The Philadelphia specialist in tuberculosis drove home a point which had been made previously in the Society's 61st annual meeting: That tuberculosis is not "licked" as yet.

Although medical science has made tremendous strides in finding new drugs for treatment of tuberculosis, one of the most important functions of the PTHS—finding tuberculosis early in the patient before its inroads are deep—still remains just as large as ever.

Other speakers yesterday include William K. Ulerich, publisher of The Clearfield Progress, and Frank J. Donahue, Johnstown, president of the Pennsylvania Conference of Tuberculosis Workers. Ulerich stressed the benefits of a more consistent, year-round program of publicity instead of concentrating most of the effort during a fund-raising drive.

Pennsylvania National Guard To Reactivate 28th Division

Army Okays Move Within About 30 Days

Harrisburg (AP) — The Pennsylvania National Guard will reactivate its famed 28th Division within about 30 days, Adj. Gen. Frank A. Weber said yesterday.

Reactivation has the approval of the Department of the Army, Weber said, because fewer than 500 Pennsylvanians now remain with the federalized 28th Division serving in Germany.

East Stroudsburg's old Company G presumably would be included as part of the re-formed division.

"Would-former members of G Company sign up again?"

"Here's the enigmatic answer of a former G-man who refused to identify himself over the telephone:

"I won't say anything about that."

Members of the state's 28th, forming the greater part of the PNG, marched off to federal service in September, 1950, shortly after the outbreak of hostilities in Korea. After training in Indiana and the South the division went overseas.

That left a great void in military protection on the home front in the Keystone State. To fill the gap, the Home Guard which had served in World War II when the 28th also was in federal service, was reactivated.

The designation of 28th U. S. Infantry Division will remain with the federal forces for the time being—thus making two such divisions.

Commanded by Col. Raymond Goodrich, Washington, Pa., the Home Guard has consisted of a skeleton force of some 40 men and officers since October, 1950. It will be disbanded once more on completion of the organization of the 28th Division.

All personnel serving with the 28th at the time of its federalization now have been released since their maximum two-year terms have ended. The only Pennsylvanians remaining are those who have signed up for hitchhikes with the regular Army.

Weber said a commanding officer has not as yet been selected for the reactivated Keystone State National Guard Division.

"We are considering numerous possibilities," he added, but declined to name them. About 17,500 men will have to be recruited for the division, he said.

The division was headed by Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler at the time of its federalization. Strickler, who was nearing the end of his term as lieutenant-governor at that time, served as commander until recently.

Back in this country now, Strickler was released from Walter Reed Hospital at Washington only Wednesday. He has been mentioned as a possibility for Republican candidate for governor in 1954.

An extensive recruiting campaign will be staged to bring the 28th Division up to full strength, Weber said. The PNG at present has another 7,000 men in its ground forces and 2,500 in its Air Force.

Stroudsburg School Board Authorizes Increase In Insurance On Properties

Stroudsburg school directors met last night at the high school to approve payment of bills and authorize an increase in insurance for the borough school buildings and contents.

Board members approved payment of bills in the amount of $8,004.61. Financial report showed a balance of $50,500.

Members approved a motion to increase insurance on school buildings from $1,200,000 to $1,274,000 at a total cost of $1,212.84 per year.

Frye Accepts Resignation Of Protector

Harrisburg (AP) — The State Game Commission yesterday accepted the resignation of Glenn A. Kitchen, suspended district game protector who had been slated for transfer from Carbon to Clinton Counties.

In announcing the resignation, Thomas D. Frye, executive director of the commission, said that Kitchen "refused to accept the transfer." He submitted the resignation two days ago.

The Carbon County Sportsmen's Association last week protested the proposed transfer.

Frye, at that time, said the sportsmen "want Kitchen to remain in their area." He suspended Kitchen pending a commission ruling on the protests.

A commission spokesman had denied that the proposed transfer had anything to do with politics.

Howards Sell Gap Property

Two deeds were among the instruments recorded yesterday at the courthouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Howard, Delaware Water Gap, sold a property in that borough to Mr. and Mrs. George P. Carson, also of Delaware Water Gap. The property adjoins the borough cemetery.

A small lot on Route 209 in Chestnut Hill Township, was bought by Mr. and Mrs. David M. Paynter, Brodheadsville, from Mr. and Mrs. Elwood H. Wetzel, Chestnut Hill Township.

Board Sets Tax At $10 And 32 Mills

A $305,804.65 budget for 1953-54 was presented last night to East Stroudsburg School Board.

Tax rate was set at 32 mills, same as last year—and $10 per capita, a raise of $5.

The raise is the first since 1947. The shop building, costing around $60,000, and equipment worth an additional $5,000, were handled without any rise in tax rates.

What made the rise necessary this year, a school board member said, was installation of a new kindergarten program which will begin in September, and conversion of some junior high school space into three new classrooms.

Contracts for building the three classrooms were awarded to Charles Frank, Stroudsburg, general contractor, at a bid of $5-118.25.

Heating contract went to Claude Setzer, Stroudsburg, at $5,290. Electrical contract was awarded to William Evans, Stroudsburg RD3, for $1,735.

Permanent certificates were given to: Mrs. Harriet Taylor, Theodore Myers, Richard Forster and Michael Evans.

Mrs. Clifford Lambert was elected kindergarten teacher for the new kindergarten class. Mrs. Lambert, of East Stroudsburg, has done kindergarten teaching in the past.

It was agreed to advertise for bids for about 400 tons of buck wheat coal.

Twins Visit Briefly With Young Mother

Russellville, Ky. (AP) — Drowsy-eyed Ronald and Donald Brummett, bawled with healthy lungs yesterday to the delight of their 12-year-old mother.

The boys were brought in for a brief visit with Mrs. Myrtle Brummett at Logan County Hospital. Then they were returned to the incubators that will be their homes until they gain some weight.

The twins weighed four pounds apiece when they were born Monday.

Their father, William Brummett, 22, remains close by. He arrived from an Army base in Maryland, with some emergency help from the Red Cross, shortly before the twins were born.

The Brummetts were married last June. Mrs. Brummett "fibbed" that she was 16 and had her mother's consent to marry.

Scarantino Posts Bail On Charges

Washington, N. J. John Scarantino, 21, Scaranton truck driver posted $1,000 bail yesterday pending appeal of a jail sentence and fine for reckless driving and driving after his New Jersey privileges had been revoked.

Scarantino still faces charges of causing 10 deaths by auto in the accident near Washington which took the lives of Clarence Matlock, his wife and five children, his mother and two sisters.

At a hearing this week before Magistrate Arthur L. Alexander, Washington, Scarantino told his version of the accident.

During the two-hour hearing, Scarantino testified that the Matlock car was "traveling at a speed of about 60 or 70 miles per hour" on two-lane Route 69 when the head-on crash occurred.

According to Scarantino, the Matlock car was straddling the white line. He pulled to his own left shoulder to let the car pass, the truck driver said.

Scarantino said his truck was on the shoulder of the road first, then the car swerved into him at the last moment.

Walter R. Berger, East Stroudsburg coal truck driver who saw Scarantino trying to pass him at the time of the accident, reported that the Matlock car was on its own side of the road, Berger said he could not estimate the speed of the car.

Magistrate Alexander sentenced Scarantino to 120 days in jail with a fine of $600 when the hearing was over.

On March 30, Scarantino was fined $55 for a New Jersey traffic violation dating back more than a year.

Hearing on the "death by auto" charges is slated for May 11 in Warren County criminal court, Belvidere, N. J., before Judge William Tallman.

Worthington Plant Workers Reject Union

Employees of Worthington Mower Co., First St., Stroudsburg voted 142 to 101 yesterday against accepting the International Association of Machinists (AF of L) as their bargaining agent.

Emerson Stanton, business agent for the union, reported the results immediately after ballots were counted.

142 said 257 employees were declared eligible to vote in the National Labor Relations Board supervised election.

Out of the 216 persons appearing to vote, three were challenged leaving a net of 243 votes cast.

H. G. Sanborn Jr., general manager of the firm, said the participation in the election was "above normal average."

John W. Kelly, field examiner for NLRB's Philadelphia district headquarters, supervised the election. He was assisted by Allen Zurlnick, also of the Philadelphia office.

The result means that Worthington Mower Co. will continue to operate as it has since it was founded.

Club Benefit Show Attracts Large Crowd

A large audience attended a concert and variety bill presented by "The Schuberts" last night at State Teachers College auditorium.

The Scaranton chorus appeared locally under sponsorship of the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club. Proceeds are to be used in the club's educational and charitable fund. Included on the program's first part were "The Star", "Softly As In A Morning Sunrise", "In A Love Call", "Into the Night", "A Heart That's Free", "Because", "Pickaninny Sleep Song", "Dinah", "Torna A Sorrento (Come Back to Sorrento)", "I Heard A Forest Praying", "Ave Maria" and "Liebestraum".

Selections heard following in "Berceuse", "Czardas", "The Old Refrain", "The Lord's Prayer", "Sweet and Low", "Lift Up Thine Eyes" and the "Schubert Ballerinas" with their version of "Pizzicato Polka".

Union, Contractor Confer; Work Expected To Resume On YMCA, Hamilton School

Work will be resumed today at both the YMCA construction project and the Hamilton Township elementary school.

That was the expectation last night, following final get-togethers between contractors' representatives and union officials.

Union officials said YMCA general contractor Paul Edinger, Stroudsburg, had met with union representatives at Central Labor Union headquarters in East Stroudsburg Wednesday night.

At the meeting disagreements were evidently resolved, although neither side would specify what was agreed upon.

Edinger said work would be picked up today where it was left off about two weeks ago when the work stoppage began.

Edinger is contractor for both the YMCA and school jobs. The picket line was ordered originally because of non-union workers employed at the jobs by contractors.

Hanford L. Cleveland, plumbing contractor at the Y job and Matt Kime, electrical contractor at both jobs, are said to employ a number of non-union workers.

A union spokesman said that Kime will continue to be the contractor at the Hamilton project, but this assurance did not extend to the YMCA job.

As for Cleveland—the union is at present conducting negotiations with him, a union man said.

A Backward Step

The Cotton States Baseball League has ousted one of its member clubs because it refused to dismiss two Negro players in a move that retards otherwise broad advances made in the sports world on the issue of racial equality.

In the past several years the barriers of racial intolerance have been removed in many fields of endeavor. The climate of understanding has shown such marked improvement that there was strong hope that with the passing years education would ultimately bring an end to the narrow and intolerant views taken by too many persons in our great democracy.

But things like the action in the minor baseball league cloud the true picture. The deep Southland, where this move took place, still holds fast to its traditional white supremacy role. They take the inexcusable stand that the ability of Negro athletes has nothing to do with their acceptance in their closed circle.

The action was termed by a former general manager of the Chicago White Sox as the most "grievous error ever committed in baseball." It is more than just a grievous error against the freedom and democracy that have made this country great. The action should be reversed.

Color Television

Every television owner in America is interested greatly in color TV.

There now are TV sets in 23,000,000 homes in the United States and that number is increasing by leaps and bounds, particularly in areas where new Ultra High Frequency stations are going on the air for the first time.

With large investments for TV reception, set owners want to know what they may expect in the way of color reception and when they may expect it.

The situation at the moment may be summarized: All restrictions have been removed from materials for manufacturing color television receiving sets. Manufacturers are eager to expand their markets with color sets; but the big question is: What kind of equipment?

About two years ago (a long time in the comparative length of the TV era) the Federal Communications Commission started an endeavor to determine which of competing color processes should be used. The setting of a national standard is still to be determined. Whatever standards are decided upon, they must call for compatibility with present black-and-white sets, that is programs broadcast in color must also be receivable in black-and-white.

Obviously, TV engineers have the knowledge to open this improved media now. The answer appears to be in getting Congress to find out why the decision is not forthcoming and to enact whatever legislation which may be necessary to remove the bottlenecks.

More than 26,500 bales of cotton are used to make handkerchiefs each year in the United States. The bales average 500 pounds.

THE SENATOR AND THE FISH

(Senator McCarthy spent his Florida vacation fishing—News item.)

Scene. — A pier at Miami Beach. Characters. — The Senator and a fishing guide.

Q: I'd like a day's fishing. What's the running of the fish?

A: May I consult my counsel? (He does so.) I am advised not to answer.

Q: This is the sailfish season, is it not?

A: Would you mind repeating that question?

Q: I ask you whether this is the sailfish season or not?

A: It all depends on the viewpoint. To some people it is; to others it is not.

Q: I consider that evasive, but will pass it for the time being and ask this question: How are the tarpon?

A: Would you be more specific? What tarpon do you mean?

Q: That is pure hedging. I will take any tarpon and I insist upon an answer.

A: May I read a statement here?

Q: Not at this time. I am trying to be very fair and all I want to know is whether tarpon are being caught just now in any large numbers?

A: Yes and no. Tarpon are peculiar.

Q: Never mind going into a discussion on how peculiar any fish may be. Have you caught any lately?

A: I caught tarpon in 1945 and 1946.

Q: But have you been a tarpon catcher since and are you a tarpon catcher today?

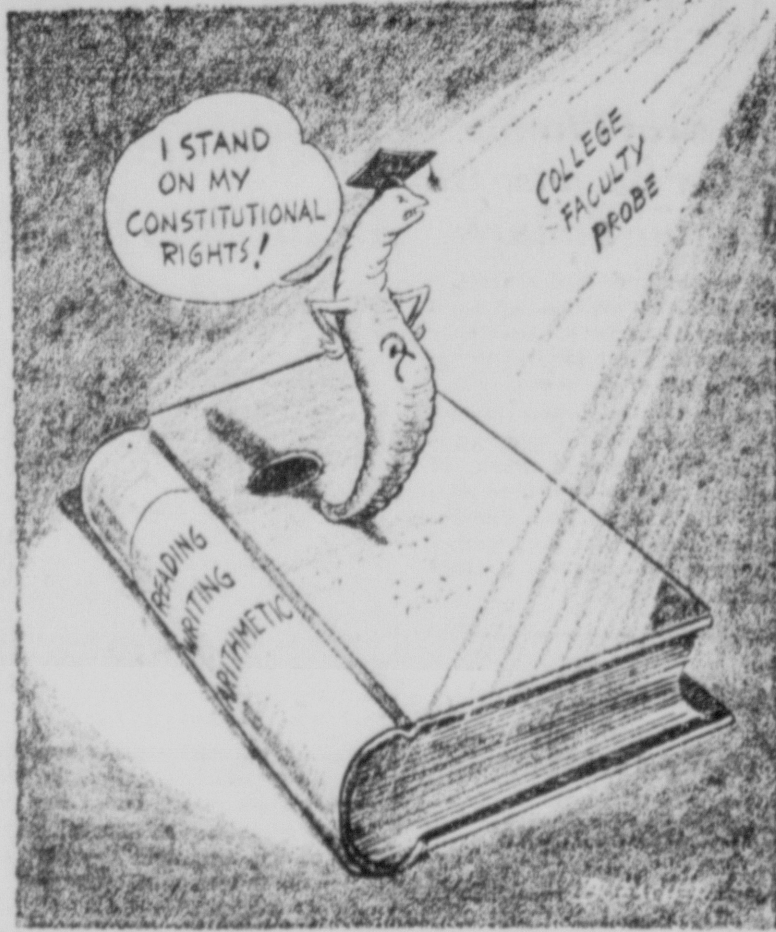

A: I decline to answer that question on the ground it might tend to incriminate and degrade me.

Q: How could a question like that degrade you?

A: You might tie it up with something else.

Q: You are within your rights if you seriously think my question could incriminate or degrade you. Now let me ask you another question . . . are the kinship question?

Robert S. Allen Reports

Bohlen Carries Message To Malenkov From President

Washington — Ambassador Charles Bohlen is carrying a message from President Eisenhower to Russian Premier Malenkov.

It will not specifically propose a personal meeting between them.

The President's message will stress the statement he made at a recent press conference that he is prepared to go halfway to establish stable and lasting world peace.

Bohlen is under instructions to see Malenkov as soon as it can be arranged.

That will probably take place soon after the formal presentation of Bohlen's credentials. It is known that the British Ambassador, who flew back to Moscow after a week of consultations in London, is also under instructions to have a personal talk with Malenkov.

Bohlen met Malenkov while in Russia some years ago, but had no dealings with him. At that time, Stalin's successor was a background figure and was virtually unknown outside of inner Kremlin circles.

Notes Premier Nehru wants to participate in any conference between the President, Winston Churchill, and Malenkov. The Indian leader has quietly sent word to that effect to Washington, London and Moscow. His chances of being invited are not promising.

Hostile Friends—The committee of this Congress are under Republican control, but that is proving to be little comfort to members of President Eisenhower's Cabinet.

Latest to make that painful discovery is Attorney General Herbert Brownell.

The New Yorker has had an encounter with a House committee that he will probably remember for a long time.

By unanimous vote the committee rapped his knuckles twice, as follows:

Flatly refused to give him the authority he requested to shift the funds of his Department from one section to another.

Bluntly warned him not to pull any punches in enforcing the anti-trust laws.

Brownell's rough experience occurred at a closed-door meeting of the House Appropriations Committee headed by Representative Cliff Cleveland (R., O.). It was Brownell's first set-to with this powerful group, and it was a very disconcerting one.

He had barely finished explaining why he wanted to reshuffle the budget of the Justice Department, when he was "jumped" by Representative John Rooney (D., N. Y.).

"Are we to understand," he demanded, "that you are proposing that Congress give you the power to transfer funds from the FBI, for example, or the Anti-Trust Division, to some other section of your Department? Is that what you are after?"

"Yes, that is what I have in mind," admitted Brownell. "I would like to be able to transfer money from one division to another; for instance, to the Claims Section, which has a heavy backlog of unfinished work."

"In other words," retorted Rooney severely, "you propose the Congress abrogate its rights in order to save you the inconvenience of having to come here and submit a supplemental budget when you find funds are running low in a particular division."

"As I see it," contended Brownell, "the authority I am asking for would give me tighter control over the sections and agencies under my jurisdiction."

"This is the first time in my long experience in Congress," thundered Rooney, "that I ever heard of giving a member of the Cabinet carte blanche authority to juggle the funds of his Department as he sees fit. Why, it is revolutionary, as far as I am concerned."

Brownell looked around for help from the Republican committeemen, but they eyed him coldly. Not one said a word in his behalf. Rooney wasted no time in resuming the attack.

"In your statement," he declared, "you said something about the Anti-Trust Division failing to use its funds for this year. What do you mean by that?"

"The Division hasn't spent all the money that was authorized for it," explained Brownell.

"Well, the fiscal year isn't over yet," snapped Rooney. "There are still three months left. Further, maybe it isn't the Division's fault that all its money hasn't been spent. Does this request of yours to transfer $300,000 from that Division to some other section mean the discontinuance or abandonment of pending anti-trust cases? Is it your intention not to file any more anti-monopoly cases between now and June 30?"

"Oh, no," replied Brownell. "Not at all. As a matter of fact, we are going to start some new cases in the next several months."

"I'm glad to hear that," declared Rooney. "Further, I want to tell you that this Subcommittee is opposed to any reduction in the funds for the Anti-Trust Division. We plan to keep an eye on what you do with regard to that Division. There are a number of highly important anti-trust cases pending and if any of them are dropped, we will call you back here for a detailed explanation."

It was after this stern admonition that the Subcommittee unanimously voted against Brownell's plan.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Formation of Economic Groups Outside U. N. In West Europe Are Promoting Unity

THE UNITED STATES OF EUROPE

Since the fall of the Roman Empire left Europe in disorder, constructive minds have often searched for a European unanimity of purpose and action.

Charlemagne's empire might have spread out to include the whole of Europe, as it actually did include most of Western Europe. This empire fell apart.

Since Charlemagne, there have been a number of efforts to unite Europe by force, the two most notable in modern times being empires of Napoleon and Hitler. But force does not change the mind of man, and when the use of military power lessens, the old lesions open again. The empires of both Napoleon and Hitler, having been established by military force, were destroyed by military force. After Napoleon, the peace was maintained by the Concert of Europe, but it was a 99-year peace without unity. In fact, during the 99 years of peace, nationalistic differences were emphasized. World War I put an end to that peace and in Europe articulated an unrealistic nationalism.

An effort was made through the League of Nations to establish a synthetic unity in Europe, and for that matter in all the world. This failed long before World War II because it was a political effort without either an economic or moral basis. Hitler's empire employed several methods to achieve unity—political propaganda, the elimination of population elements by mass murders, the projection of Nietzsche's ideas concerning an elite race, the Uebermensch, the Superman, the integration of all Germanic peoples into an economic state and, finally, war. Whereas Hitler might have united Europe, he failed.

The Russians tried to unify Europe under the leadership of Stalin and by the creation of a pseudo-religious movement out of Marxism. By ingenious diplomacy at Teheran and Yalta, by propaganda among the peoples and infiltration into governments, by economic unification, the absorptions of weaker nations on her borders, and by war, Russia has built one of the largest and best integrated empires in history. Yet, already there are signs that the period of growth has been arrested. Soviet Russia is standing still; her satellites are uneasy; her missionaries and agents abroad are frightened.

Meanwhile, the successor to the League of Nations, the United Nations, continues to labor for some kind of unity. The United Nations Charter is so involved a document and its methods are so complex that progress toward European unity had to be made outside it, in a series of conferences and agreements which have been astonishingly successful.

The first of these was the formation of the Benelux Customs Union in September, 1944. This is an economic union of Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. It has functioned admirably. If its principles could be extended to the whole of non-Russian Europe, the advantages would be enormous.

The Economic Commission for Europe was set up in March, 1947, and included Russian satellites as well as free countries—Belgium, Byelorussia, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, France, Greece, Iceland, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Sweden, Turkey, Ukraine, United Kingdom, Russia and Yugoslavia. This was too involved to be realistic.

The Dunkirk Treaty of Alliance was signed between Great Britain and France on March 4, 1947 and was followed by the Brussels Treaty of 1948 between the Benelux countries and France and Great Britain, strengthening the Benelux concept of a European customs union.

This was followed by the agreement for the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (the Marshall Plan) in Paris on April 16, 1948. This included the countries which we now term Western Europe, supported by the United States. It is to be noted that Turkey and Greece here take their places among Western countries.

On December 28, 1948, in London, the international Ruhr Authority, among Belgium, France, West Germany, Netherlands, Luxembourg, United Kingdom and the United States, was arranged, taking that area of contention out of danger to Germany and France.

Then came the North Atlantic Treaty (Washington, 1949) which established a comity among Western European countries and actually stopped the further advance of Russia in Europe. It was strengthened by the Council of Europe (1949) and the European Defense Community (1952). These latter agreements are popularly referred to as NATCO.

One other step toward European unity must be referred to. This is the European Coal and Steel Community (the Schuman Plan), agreed to in 1951 and now actually functioning. This may save the economy of Western Europe.

There is some good and some bad in almost everything in life. It all depends which way you look on it and what your purpose is in doing what you do.

One of my favorite television programs is "Strike It Rich." I watch it almost every day I am home because it teaches so much about human nature.

It is surprising how quickly people react to the troubles and miseries of others if they are only brought to their attention. But a few days ago I was discussing "Strike It Rich" with a woman of my acquaintance.

"You are just an old sofie," she said. "Did you ever notice that whenever there is a large family on the program, some manufacturer of sports shirts or of slacks will call up and offer to outfit the whole family with his goods? Thereby, he gets himself some swell publicity at the cost of only a few pairs of pants or some old jackets that are probably all out of style. Or if a woman complains she has to do all the washing for the family, some hand lotion maker will offer her a full year's supply of his particular product. The offer is announced right there and then. When can you get swapper publicity?"

So, you see, it all depends on your viewpoint.

The F. B. I. recently published a report on the number of crimes committed in the United States. There were more than 2,000,000 major crimes in 1952. This was 154,350 more than the year before.

That is enough to horrify all of us—that is, if we are easily horrified. But the report does not take into consideration the increase in our population.

I haven't the 1952 figures yet, but those for the ten years from 1940 to 1950, when the last census was taken, showed a population increase of almost 20 million.

That would be at the rate of about 2,000,000 a year, although the Bureau of the Census estimates the increase from August, 1951, to August, 1952, as more than 2,600,000.

So, an increase in crime of 154,350 against a population increase of more than 2,600,000 doesn't seem anything so very much to worry about.

It is one of the unfortunate facts that crime hangers and doom-mongers will always look for catastrophe and perdition in an attempt to scare the wits out of us.

In a recent press conference, President Eisenhower called the attention of the newspapermen present to an old adage.

"Man has been given one tongue and two ears. That means, he added, that man should listen twice as much as he talks.

Unfortunately, however, that isn't always the case.

The usual procedure with all too many of us is to talk first, to listen afterwards and then, finally, to think.

Thus the too prolific talker does not realize until too late, what a fool he has made of himself.

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

"Horses in Mid-Stream" folded at the Royale after only 4 perfs last week. The critics called it a placid play but all saluted the east, led by Lilli Darvas, Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Diana Lynn. It was slight but not trivial. The adult language (dealing with sinners, love and sex) kept this observer interested, if not hypnotized.

Cedric plays the part of a millionaire who left his wife and family for a French woman he loved. They together over 30 years. Then he indignantly opposes his granddaughter's affair with a Londoner.

"Why?" asks his mistress. "It's bad!" he shudders. "Nothing," his answer reminds him, "is bad—between a man and a woman."

Cedric asks Diana what she does back home in America. "This and that," she says, "and some Summer stock."

"What's Summer stock?" "Sort of like acting."

MGM invited a group of London critics to a 3-D film. The execs said that 3-D stood for D-lightful . . . D-lectable and D-laughable. To what one assassin reported: "It is D-plorable . . . D-pressing and D-awful!"

Headline: "Soviet Agrees on Dag Hammarskjöld as U. N. Head." Now they're pickin' on typesetters, linotypers and proof-readers!

Vonnie O'Brien (known to her intimates as Pocahontas Paleface) returned after 5 weeks at Nassau beautiful by scads of sun-specks.

"Looka these awful freckles!" she boo-hoo'd.

She was reminded of the child who wept: "Oh, Mommy. Why do I have so many freckles?"

"Darling," comforted her wonderful mother, "you must love your freckles. That's where God has kissed you!"

Headline: "Critics Buy Way In to Theater."

We've winced at many an actor who oughta do the same.

We recently reported that in the early 20s Walter Lippmann hailed pro-Russian John Reed (the American newsman buried inside the Kremlin walls) with "If all history had been reported as you are doing this, Lord! I say that with John Reed reporting begins!"

Herbert Bayard Swope (Reed's editor on the N. Y. World) writes a memo: "Walter: Is this an accurate quotation?"

The source is page 359 of "A Treasury of Great Reporting" (Simon & Schuster).

Headline from the San Bernardino (Cal.) Sun: "Winchell Has Last Laugh on Crestline Critics!"

You live & learn. Not all the phonies are in Hwood.

"Grabble's Legs Earn Super Money."

They mean Pin money.

Letter from Julius Ochs Adler, gen. mgr. of the N.Y. Times to a Brookhaven, Mississippi, subscriber named Dalton B. Brady. "Your ready acceptance of the unsupervised charge made in a Winchell column is surprising. The N. Y. Times would not knowingly employ one Communist in our News or Editorial Departments. The Times does not have a single scrap of evidence, nor has anyone else, that there are any Communists working here in such a capacity."

"In regard to the testimony of Harvey Matusow . . . The Times has examined minutely the published transcript of Mr. Matusow's testimony. There is not one mention of The N. Y. Times."

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee (last year) published a report called: "Communist Domination of Union Officials in the Int'l Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers." Mr. Matusow (a former Red) became an undercover man for various Federal law enforcement agencies. He was a witness at the hearings held on Oct. 8, 1952, at Salt Lake City, Utah.

The report quotes his sworn testimony on page 162, in part: "In New York City today there are approximately 500 dues-paying Communists working in the newspaper industry. The New York Times has well over 100 dues-paying members."

The Times, says Mr. Adler, "examined minutely the published transcript and found not one mention of the N. Y. Times."

The Times was the punchline!

Gainesville Is Circus-Happy Community; Texas City Owns, Operates Own Big Top

By Henry Morris

Gainesville, Tex. — Little Theatre of Gainesville, Texas, was in a bad way financially due to the depression. It needed about $300 to survive.

A. Morton Smith, editor of a Gainesville newspaper, had an idea. Smith, an incurable circus fan, thought that he might be able to raise the money by staging a burlesque circus.

He ran an article in his paper asking for volunteers to lend a hand as performers, musicians, in executive and construction capacities. The response was tremendous.

So Smith went ahead with his circus but the performers were so good that it was no burlesque at all — it was the real thing.

The show cost around $300 — the sum he was trying to raise — but it made such a hit they put on three performances and showed a net profit of $420. That was 32 years ago.

Today, that community circus has become an annual affair — Gainesville's great festive — and, 1953, it seems, may be its biggest year.

F. E. Schmitz, president of the circus, recently announced that the show will play seven engagements in three states this spring. Its most ambitious undertaking. All profits of course, will be turned back to the circus.

The show will open an engagement in Gainesville, April 15-17, followed by an April 21-25 showing at San Antonio in connection with the Fiesta San Jacinto. Dates at Abilene and Lubbock, Tex., and Duncan and Lawton, Okla., will follow, topped off with an engagement on June 19-20 at Monroe, La. In addition, other dates are tentatively scheduled for the late summer and early autumn.

The fame of the Gainesville circus — it is the third oldest circus in America today — and its real old-time circus performance guarantee a good reception on these dates. Yet the personnel of the show is made up entirely of residents of this little city of 11,500.

Most of the people provide their own costumes. They come from every walk of life. In the past seasons one of the best performers captain; Mrs. Marvin Abel, Mrs. George Watson, Mrs. Harry Heller, Miss Sandra Secor, Miss Jean Quinlan.

Fifth Ward—Mrs. Raymond Herrman, Mrs. John Kintner, Mrs. Kenneth Stone, Mrs. E. F. Werkheiser, Mrs. Bud Van Horn, Mrs. Charles Lloyd, Mrs. Robert Wright, Mrs. Samuel Latta Jr., Miss June Brink.

Sixth Ward—Mrs. Lester Dimmick, captain; Mrs. Ernest H. Christian, Mrs. Helen Titus, Mrs. Nora Staples, Mrs. Alice B. Evans, Mrs. Ethel M. Doolittle, Mrs. Marjorie A. Miller, Mrs. Adelaide M. Bendley, Mrs. Agnes Van Gordon, Mrs. Fay Fisher, Mrs. Myrtilla Zacharias, Mrs. Ida Sincok, Mrs. Eleanor Eyer.

Contributions to the 1953 county drive for funds to control cancer may be made either in person or by mail to the local office of the American Society at 615 Sarah St.

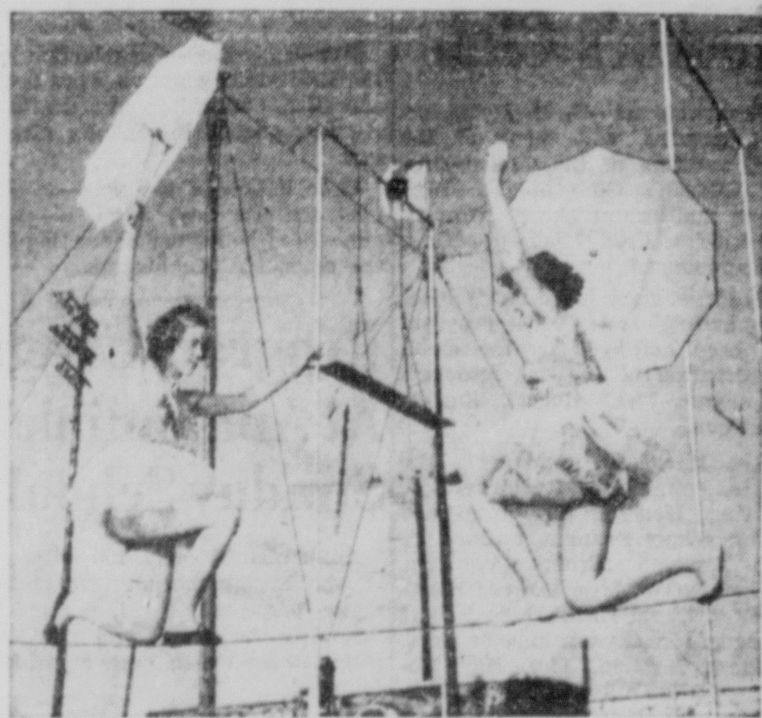

A telephone call to the ACS office will bring a representative to collect individual contributions from those who wish to donate.

The cancer drive continues throughout the month of April.

was a delivery boy, one of the funniest clowns a judge. In all, more than 1,500 citizens of Gainesville, or one out of every eight residents, have taken part in the circus since it started.

The circus performers are not paid, either. They rehearse on their own time, then arrange job and housekeeping schedules to take part in out of town performances. "We get our pay when people laugh and applaud," explains H. B. Newberry, a 6-foot 6-inch 265-pound clown.

Typical of the home town circus performer today is Vern Brewer, a trucking contractor. Vern, who also raises Shetland ponies, presents his own Liberty Horses and educated dog and pony acts. He also trains the show's baby elephant, Gerry, which was purchased in 1950 for $3,500.

Vern's wife, Betty, thrills audiences atop a slender, swaying steel pole, also rides one of the educated saddle horses in the show. A 16-year-old schoolgirl, Joy Bowles, does bareback riding and works in the upside down unicycle act.

Among the other top performers in the show are Charles O'Neal, "catcher" in the flying return act; the Bud Lucas Troupe of acrobats; Peggy Wilson and Jane Curtis, wire walkers; Portis Sims and his jockey dogs, and Evelyn Kaps, a versatile girl who works on the trapeze and tight wire and also performs in the bareback riding act.

The circus has its own tents, tableau wagons, a callopie, trapeze, web and menage equipment.

In addition to Gerry, the elephant, the show owns a clown mule, performing and dancing

57 Exhibits On Display At Art Show

The fifth annual exhibit by the Adult Art Group of East Stroudsburg is now being held in the main corridor of the Junior High School building.

Borough Board of Education sponsors the art group. There are 57 oil watercolor paintings on display in this year's show.

Those whose work is now on exhibition are Lila Rockefeller, Carla Holmgren, Rose Smith, Anne George, Ruth Heller, Charlotte Petry, Otto Christ, Dr. Claus Jordan, Adele Katz, Mary Anne Michelfelder, Jo Low, Helen Aument, Betty Hartman, Dot Strauss, Sterling Strauss, Henry Evans, Peter Mender and G. Francis Meredith.

The exhibit continues until April 22.

horses, several wild animals and many other pieces of talented livestock.

In order to provide real circus music the town long ago passed a tax, the receipts of which go to finance a high school and junior college band. It plays gallops, quadrills, waltzes, quick changes and close cues, in real big top style.

Rehearsals for the Gainesville Community Circus usually begin early in December when the first of the professional circus artists who spend the winter there return from their engagements and are available to act as instructors for the Gainesville performers.

In 22 years of trouping the show has played 141 engagements in 55 cities for a total of 338 performances. During this period only one performance was cancelled, at Ardmore, Okla., in 1939, when a cyclone destroyed the circus tent. It has earned approximately $300,000.

The main problem in running a home town circus, according to Schmitz, is the certain turnover in performers. During World War Two, 183 members or former members of the Gainesville circus were in service.

The Gainesville circus has so firmly imprinted the Big Top idea in the minds of its citizens that the town is "circus happy." A tourist court in the town is known as the Circus Courts and a sandwich shop is the Clown Hut.

Sign Producers Take Cue From Three-Dimension Films

Three dimensional films are taking the nation by storm—and now the merchantile field has come up with 3-D signs.

The Grand Theater in East Stroudsburg opens next Wednesday for a seven-day run of "Bwana Devil," one of the first 3-D films to be released. And Penn-Stroud Paint Store, 300 Main St., Stroudsburg this week erected a 60-foot sign which carries the 3-D appearance.

James B. Gaffney

Victor Austin, manager of the Grand Theater, announced yesterday his theater will be closed Tuesday while technicians make the intricate changes necessary for 3-D films. And beginning with the afternoon performance Wednesday, "Bwana Devil," an 85-minute feature makes its debut. A cartoon of regular film also will accompany.

Austin also disclosed the 3-D presentation is limited to only seven days, with no chance of a hold-over.

The 3-D name sign is a product of John Austin, sign painter with headquarters on Broad St., Stroudsburg. He designed and made the unique name tag for George Miller, Penn-Stroud Paint Store owner. Miller said he believes its the first of its kind in this area.

Another local firm collaborated in erecting the sign—Penn Craft Co., of East Stroudsburg—giving it the all-local touch since no work was done outside the area. Penn Craft made the brackets holding the huge sign.

At the eastern end are three king-size paint cans which protrude over the sidewalks. They are 22 inches in diameter and 28 inches high. At the western end is a paper book five feet wide. Cut out letters 18 inches wide are painted white and blend well with the deep red background.

Miller recently completed an expansion program which took in three storerooms, all adjoining with passages in between. The center shop is exclusively for wallpaper and related supplies and the eastern section is the headquarters for paint. Storage space is provided in the western end.

A new addition to Monroe County's construction family is Home Roofing and Siding Co., with offices at 7 Washington St., East Stroudsburg.

In business 30 years the firm claims to be one of the largest of its kind in Pennsylvania and has headquarters in Wilkes-Barre, Scranton and Tamaqua.

Jack Irwin, of Maple Lake, near Moscow, is manager of the East Stroudsburg office and has been with the company 10 of his 30 years in the roofing, siding and construction field.

Irwin said this week his company eventually expects to enlist local labor but presently utilizes the services of its crews working out of Scranton. Among the products handled by the firm here are baked enamel aluminum sidings, asbestos, insulation and new roofing supplies.

Five Girls From County At Convention

Five high school girls from this area are attending the State Future Homemakers of America convention in Harrisburg this week-end.

Representing Monroe County will be Shirley Serfass of Polk Township High School; Ann Holdorf and Gladys Hoffer, Stroudsburg High School; Miss Mary Hall, Stroudsburg Homemaking instructor; and Miss Miriam Lark, county homemaking supervisor.

From Northampton, Nancy Lou Houck and Mary Reese, Bangor High School and their teacher, Miss Dorothy Everett, are attending.

Miss Serfass, Polk Township, is fourth vice president of the State Future Homemakers of America. The group left yesterday afternoon for the two-day convention. They will return Saturday night.

Operation Yields Ring In Ankle

Vincennes, Ind., (AP) — Marvin Stone, production manager of a Grayville, Ill., drilling company, had complained of a pain in an ankle since he was injured 10 months ago in a premature nitroglycerin explosion near Vincennes.

Doctors operated Tuesday and found half of a wedding ring that had been worn by George Hawkins of Crami, Ill., who was killed in the explosion.

all her life and operates a tourist home where she accommodated over night guests last summer.

WOMEN RUN WASHINGTON

FOR THE NEXT two years, women will handle the governmental reins in Washington. No, President Eisenhower hasn't left the nation's capital. We're talking about Washington, Va., some 65 miles away, where women run the town. Pretty Dorothy Davis is mayor of the mountain hamlet which also has an all-female town council. Television viewers may remember Mrs. Davis when she addressed the Democratic national convention in Chicago last July. She said then that "a citizen has an obligation to government," and she has taken her own advice by forming a Women of Washington (Va.) club. It's about time women took part in government, she says. Town residents must like their government because they returned women to office in two successive elections. Mrs. Davis says, "Leave it to us girls."

Mayor Davis is sworn in for her second term. She shows trooper where stop light belong.

Even mayors take work home. Mrs. Davis (foreground) meets with her all-female council.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

I have long predicted that, morning meetings were the only practical solution to a social calendar, bulging at the seams, but I never believed I'd get involved in one of the first ones.

The meeting itself was fine—but sort of hard on the bed-making, breakfast dishes, detail. Don't know how they manage in the Mid-West, where they hold a lot of social events in the morning, too.

They call them "coffee" to distinguish them from afternoon parties which are teas. Of course we have something of the sort here, but we aren't so formal about them. It's usually just the next door neighbor in her house coat, ready to relax after getting the children off for school.

Or the business men stopping in at the lunch counter for a second breakfast after they've opened the mail.

However, the time will probably come when even coffees will become more formal, and then we'll have to start crawling out of bed without throwing back the covers so it will look made anyway.

However, fifty years ago, they had their excitement, too. If you'll notice in the coronation story of 1902, those were the days when John D. Rockefeller summered here. A dime a meal—that was his tip. But at the end of the season, he'd ask his waitress how many of the dimes she had left and exchange each dime for a dollar. Don't know whether he'll still be in the mood next Friday night or not.

Miss Ininger In Recital At Lehigh

Miss Helen Ininger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ininger, East Stroudsburg, and a senior at Wilson College, Chambersburg, will be presented in an organ recital at Packer Memorial Chapel, Lehigh University, on Sunday afternoon, at 4.

Miss Ininger, who began her study of the organ at East Stroudsburg High School, under the tutelage of Ernest Michel-felder, has gained wide recognition being the first junior in the history of the college to be permitted to give a recital in her junior year.

It is expected that many local friends will go to Bethlehem to hear her on Sunday afternoon. The concert is open to the public.

Pocono Garden To Meet Tuesday

Tannersville—The Pocono Garden Club will meet on Tuesday, April 14 at two p.m. at the firehouse. Each member is urged to bring a friend as a representative from the Burpee Gardens. Miss Lintelman, will have some very interesting data to bring before the group. The exhibits will be arrangements representing Spring.

Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Louis Ingersoll, Mrs. Henry Cruse, Mrs. Anthony Vlossak, Mrs. Leander Farnese, Mrs. Horace Bloss and Mrs. Oscar Peechaska.

Marine Corps Auxiliary Begins Membership Drive

The Monroe County Marine Corps auxiliary is starting a membership drive. All mothers, wives, widows and sisters of Marines, past and present, are invited to join the group.

The purpose of the auxiliary is to serve all Monroe County Marines and their families in time of need. Anyone wishing to join may call Mrs. Anna May Staples, 3385 JI or may attend the next meeting of the Auxiliary which will be held Thursday, April 30 at the VFW Home at 8 o'clock.

The auxiliary is compiling a list of all Marines now in service to add them to the list of those who are already receiving gift boxes from the auxiliary.

Larsens Have House Guest From Sweden Visiting

Cherry Valley—Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Larsen have been hosts to Mrs. R. Hasselao, a cousin of Mr. Larsen of Tottenburg, Sweden. Mrs. Hasselao is now visiting other sections of the United States.

While she was here, the Larsens entertained at dinner on Easter Sunday with the guests including Mrs. Vida Larsen and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Evers, of Short Hills, N.J., Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Ace, and Mrs. Clara Shaller of Dover and Reiders; Mrs. Mathilda Erickson, of New York City; Mr. and Mrs. William Larsen and daughter Karen, and Mrs. Edna Allen of Springfield, N.J. and Mrs. Hasselao.

Fraileys At State-Church Conference

Mr. and Mrs. Verdon Frailey, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Albert, Wind Gap, drove to Harrisburg Tuesday, April 7, where they attended a luncheon meeting in the Zenbo Mosque between church groups and state government officials.

Principal speaker was Governor Fine. The Lt. Governor of Pennsylvania also spoke to the gathering.

Mr. Frailey represented the Temperance Board of the Methodist Church. He talked briefly with Rep. John Shotwell, from Monroe County, who was among the assembled State Congressmen, and with Rev. James Shannon, formerly pastor of the Hamilton Lutheran Parish, now in Middleburg, Pa.

Chairman of the conference was Rev. Melvin Forney, minister at the Third Baptist Church in Philadelphia. Purpose of the meeting was to promote understanding between the governing body of the state who make the laws, and the various organizations of citizens interested in the religious and moral welfare of the Commonwealth.

Some 1200 persons participated in the 4-hour session.

Combined Classes Plan Series Of Summer Bake Sales

Broadheads—Mrs. Ervin Felker's Sunday School class and Mrs. Lizzie Fetherman's Class held their joint monthly meeting at the Chestnut Hill High School building on Thursday night April 2. The meeting opened with devotions. The business meeting was held and plans were made for their baked sales, to be held as follows: May 29, July 3, July 18, Aug. 1, Aug. 15, and Aug. 29 to be held at Altmore's Store.

Plans are being made by the members to purchase new carpet for the church before Christmas. Mrs. Riday will give a recital on June 14 at the Broadheads Church, with Mrs. Arlene McNett and Mrs. William Fisher as soloists.

Anyone wishing to buy boxes of greeting cards may ask any member of the class, which recently received a new shipment. After the business meeting Mrs. Fetherman's class served refreshments to the following: Mrs. Anna Snyder, Dorothy McNeal, Loretta Snyder, Leah Dorshimer, Ann Dorshimer, Beatrice Brong, Berneda Werkheiser, Mrs. Mary Hoffman, Arlene Rittenhouse, Harriet Switzgabel, Pearl Switzgabel, Ruth Serfass, Mrs. Frank Varney, Mrs. Lizzie Fetherman, Mrs. Elsie Altmore, Mrs. Lizzie Walz, Mrs. Minnie Kresge, Mrs. Emma Brong, Miss Sallie Serfass, Mrs. Eva Jackson, Mrs. Grace Kretzing and Mrs. Pearl Altmore.

Crusader Class Plans Supper; Mother's Day

Bartonsville—Mother's Day program committees were announced at the March meeting of the Crusader class of St. John's Lutheran Church, Friday, March 27. Program is in charge of Dorothy Heller, Ruth and Emma Dunbar. Decorating will be done by Henrietta Bond and Thelma Fields. Prizes are to be selected and awarded by Alma Detrick and Henrietta Bond.

A sauer kraut supper Saturday, April 25, from 5 to 8 p.m. is to be sponsored by the Crusaders class for the benefit of the church painting fund.

Next meeting is scheduled a week early, Friday, April 17. Mrs. Verdon Frailey and Mrs. Claude Cyphers will be hostesses.

Mrs. Hoffman Is Surprised On Her Birthday

Mrs. Flossie Hoffman of 549 N. Courtland St., answered the door bell on Wednesday night to let in a whole surprise birthday party of friends. Gifts and refreshments and television marked the party which had been planned by Mrs. Horace Heller, Mrs. Chris Hoover and Mrs. Ray Stiff.

Harry Hoffman also enjoyed his wife's birthday party with Alfred Reisenwitz and Chris Hoover keeping him company.

Other guests included Mrs. Abbie Sutton, of Portland, Mrs. Lucinda Sullivan, Betty Lois, Patsy Ann and Nancy Lou Stiff, Mrs. Alfred Reisenwitz, Mrs. Orville Cole, Miss Helen Canfield, Mrs. Victor Koch and daughter Diane.

Coronation Figures Of Past And Present To Mingle At Ball And Fashion Show

Mount Pocono—Great figures from the turn of the century will mingle with the royalty of today at the Coronation Show and Dance to be held at Pocono Manor on Friday, April 17, at 8:30 under the auspices of the Pocono Mountain Council of Republican Women.

Dinner in the Pocono Manor dining room from 6 to 8 will open the festivities. Dinner reservation must be made in advance by telephoning Mrs. David Nelson, Mt. Pocono 5595, or Mrs. George Humphrey, Mt. Pocono 5081.

Dinner guests will have the opportunity of keeping their same places for the show which will begin at 8:30. Tickets for the show can be purchased in Stroudsburg from Mrs. Russell Custard.

The show itself will open with a glamorous array of Coronation fashions of 1953, with Powers models wearing French, Italian and English original designs especially prepared for England's coronation and shown by Hest Brothers of Allentown.

The contemporary part of the show will be highlighted with a procession of royalty with models playing the roles of Queen Elizabeth II; her consort, the Duke of Edinburgh; Queen Mother Elizabeth and Mr. and Mrs. Winston Churchill.

Another attraction will be the door prizes to be awarded during the intermission.

The second part of the show will be presented by local models who will turn back the clock to 1902 to show a trip to the Coronation of Edward VII and Queen Alexandra. There will be a ship-board wedding, a trip to the Ascot races, the garden party at Windsor Castle and a visit to the opera and Follie Bergere.

When the couple return to the Poconos, they will meet John D. Rockefeller and Woodrow Wilson who during that era visited Pocono Manor. His Excellency President Theodore Roosevelt will also be on hand.

Following the fashion show their Majesties Edward VII and Queen Alexandra will lead the Grand March to open the Coronation Ball. Dancing to the Pocono Manor orchestra will continue to 1 a.m., with refreshments available until 1:30.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Mr. and Mrs. Royden H. Lerch, of North Green Street, are celebrating their 35th wedding anniversary today.

Mrs. Elizabeth Crossman, of Bethlehem, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Clyde Heckman and family, East Stroudsburg.

Frieda Coffman and Babbs George sent Easter greetings to local friends from Lawton, Oklahoma, by short wave radio. The message was picked up by amateur radio in Folsom, Pa., and relayed here.

St. Ann's Society Plans Card Party

Barrett—The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Ann's Church, Canadensis, met recently at the church. Plans were made for a card party to be held Monday, April 20 at 8 p.m. at Landi. There will be prizes and refreshments.

A collection of old nylon stockings is now being made. They will be sent to Margaret Allen of television, who sells the stockings and uses the proceeds to buy television sets for mental hospitals.

Stockings may be left with Mrs. Clair Smith, Price's Drive, or Miss Rita Farrell, Laurel Pine Road.

Square Dance Sat.

Cherry Valley—A square dance will be held at the Cherry Valley Grange Hall, Stormville, on Saturday night, April 11. Mrs. Nona Reish and Horace Werkheiser will furnish the music. James Cyphers will call for the dances. There will be a door prize and cake walks.

YMCA Drive Workers Get Prospect Cards

Ted Hoffman and Jack Pine, section leaders in the Monroe County YMCA Building Fund Campaign, reported yesterday that 2,600 prospect cards have been placed in the hands of the eight division managers, 40 captains and some 190 workers.

Holt Wyckoff, general co-chairman, said first reports will be given at next Monday night's meeting at the Penn Stroud Hotel.

Workers have been coached to the effect that the association's workers are not striving to tell people what to give. Instead they are hopefully asking them to consider generous support of the campaign for $350,000 trusting that the citizens of the Pocono area will give generously on a six-payment basis spread over three income tax years.

The analysis of a gift will serve to illustrate the power of several payments. A pledge of $120 means a payment of $20 every six months for three income tax years. Figured on a daily basis it would be a little more than the cost of a cup of coffee a day.

Many gifts, both larger and smaller than this illustration, will be needed to spell success for the campaign. But the basic principle remains.

The Special Gifts Committee under General Co-Chairman C. R. Gilliam, are working hard in an endeavor to reach their quota which is $299,600. They are holding a special meeting Monday noon to check over their progress in preparation for making a report with the teams organization at Monday night's first official report rally. Other report meetings will be held as follows: Friday, April 17, Tuesday, April 21, Friday, April 24, and Wednesday, April 29.

Shoemaker Named Company Director

New York, (AP)—Perry M. Shoemaker, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, yesterday was elected to the board of directors of National Biscuit Co. Shoemaker also is a director of the Lehigh and Hudson River Valley Railway Co. and Railway Express Agency.

Leniency Attacked

Washington, (AP)—T. Coleman Andrews, Internal Revenue Commissioner, yesterday denounced as "a national disgrace" lenient sentences he said the courts often mete out to federal tax law violators.

Police Issue Warning To Dog Owners

A sharp warning to dog owners to keep their canines tied came from Chief of Police James McConnell, of Stroudsburg, last night.

Chief McConnell said numerous complaints have been registered this week by property owners who claim dogs are destroying shrubbery and racing unchecked through new planting areas.

Dog owners were advised to contain their animals or police will pick them up and stiff fines will follow.

Farewell Held For Family At Portland

Portland, (The Baptist Church held its annual business meeting here Wednesday night. After the meeting, a social hour was held in farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Williams and daughter, who will leave for Clark Summit, N.J., where they will be shown by Rev. Elias Jones and refreshments were served by members of Dorcas Class.

George Shoemaker was elected trustee to replace Williams. The same church officers were elected to serve another term.

A financial report on the organ fund started by the Dorcas Class was given. Those elected to the organ committee are Mrs. Lawrence Cox, Rev. George Weidman and Mrs. Harry Micholls.

More than $450 was given toward missionary work during the year, which includes $105 contributed by Sunday School classes and individual families to the American Leprosy colony it was reported.

Doctor Escapes Serving Sentence

Los Angeles, (AP)—The Army pulled one of its doctors out of jail yesterday saying he was too badly needed at Ft. McArthur hospital to serve a term for falling behind in support payments of actress Claire Jones' son.

At the request of the Army, a Superior Court commissioner released Capt. Peter L. Hoffman of the Medical Corps, the actress' ex-husband. He had been sent to jail Tuesday when Miss Jones contended he was $1,350 in arrears in payments for her 17-month-old son.

In a bitter court battle, Dr. Hoffman was adjudged the baby's father, although he contended the baby was not his.

Associated Press Picks Yankees, Dodgers To Win

New York, (AP)—The world champion New York Yankees and National League defending champion Brooklyn Dodgers ruled as overwhelming favorites to meet again in the World Series next fall in an Associated Press poll of the Baseball Writers' Association of America yesterday.

Of the 142 experts voting, 105 selected the Dodgers to become the first National League champions to repeat since the 1953 St. Louis Cardinals successfully defended their title in '44. While their following was not as great, the Yankees still drew 87 first place votes to capture their fifth consecutive American League flag. Runner-up Cleveland was named on 48 first place ballots.

Philadelphia's Phillies edged out the New York Giants for second place in the National although they received only 14 first place votes to 18 for the Giants. Strong second place backing enabled the Phils to pile up 886 points to New York's 873. The Cards, with five first place votes, were picked for fourth place with 899 points. The Dodgers' point total was 1,090.

Only eight teams received top recognition, four in each league. The Chicago White Sox, picked to finish third in the American, drew six first place votes and Detroit's Tigers, a solid choice to remain in the cellar, received one surprising vote to finish on top. In the point total, the Yankees had 1,069 to 1,008 for Cleveland and 890 for Chicago.

The writers picked the same order of finish in the American League as prevailed last year. They chose the Philadelphia Athletics to wind up fourth, Washington fifth, Boston sixth, St. Louis seventh and Detroit last. There were some changes in the National. Besides moving the Phillies up two notches and dropping the Giants and Cardinals one notch, they advanced the Milwaukee Braves one position and lowered the Cincinnati Reds one.

The Chicago Cubs were picked to head the second division, receiving 463 points to 431 for sixth place Milwaukee and 407 for seventh place Cincinnati. The experts thought so little of Pittsburgh's chances the best they gave them was one sixth place vote. All but 10 of the 142 voters predicted a cellar spot for the Bucs.

Apparently some writers are hard to convince as 15 of them still referred to the Milwaukee club as the Boston Braves.

Y's Men Win Over Barrett In Basketball

A strong first half enabled the Y's men to take the measure of Barrett, 59-46, in a basketball game played at the Monroe County YMCA last night.

The Y's men led 12-9 at the end of the first period and 30-17 at the halfway mark. The early lead proved to be the deciding margin.

Identical scores in the second half, 15-15 in the third period and 14-14 in the final round.

Dr. Gail Fegley and Rev. Ernest Campbell led the winning attack with 26 and 14 tallies respectively. Price and Wilson were the big guns for Barrett, with 17 and 14 markers each.

Olympic Boxer Wins As Pro

Detroit, (AP)—"Chuck" Speiser, former Michigan State and Olympic sharpshooter, won a technical knockout at the Motor City Arena last night over Billy Fifeid, Canada's number two ranking light heavyweight in 49 seconds of the seventh round.

No Contest

Speiser, who weighed 174, never felled his man, but had the 170½-pound Fifeid groggy in the third, socking home at least 10 blows for every one he took.

East Stroudsburg Cuts Diamond Squad

First String Positions Almost Set

East Stroudsburg High school's baseball squad is rapidly nearing opening day size, as it drills daily at the East Stroudsburg Playground field, weather permitting.

Coach Jack Kist cut 15 players from the roster yesterday, reducing the squad to 24 in number. Kist wasn't certain last night as to whether or not another cut would be made prior to opening day.

East Stroudsburg opens the regular season against Hellertown on Friday, April 24, at 4 p.m. The contest will be played on the East-burg field.

The Cavaliers also have two practice games on the agenda, one with Pocono High next Wednesday and another with Port Jervis the following Tuesday.

Yesterday's squad reduction enabled Kist to virtually decide on his starting lineup.

The highly regarded diamond mentor is planning on dividing the catching chores between Carl Smith and Dick Burch, while John "Juice" Ernst opens at first base. Bob Kupiszewski has the inside track at second base, but is being pushed by Dick Gray. Jack Summers is set to open at shortstop, while Harold White and Jim Kintz fight for the third base assignment.

Joe Antonucci and Harry Caulfield, a pair of senior right handers, will carry the bulk of the pitching load. Other pitchers making an impression are Bill Sommers, Ken Roth, Joe Chase, Danny Marvin and John Verwey. Roth is the only southpaw on the list.

Infield reserves feature Charley Latta, shortstop; Gene Plaza, third base; Bill Coope, first base, and Bob "Booster" Miller, catcher.

The Cavaliers have a special practice scheduled for tomorrow, in an effort to make up for drill sessions washed off the books by the weatherman.

Phillies Stop A's Behind Roberts

Portsmouth, Va. (AP)—Robin Roberts limited the Philadelphia Athletics to five hits yesterday as the Philadelphia Phillies blanked their intra-city rivals, 4-0, in an exhibition game.

Fans Seven

Roberts struck out seven, Bobby Shantz, the star lefthander of the A's, opened against Roberts and allowed two hits, one run and struck out seven in his five inning turn. Lefty Alex Kellner relieved Shantz in the sixth and promptly was belted for three runs.

Cardinals Rally To Down Chicks

Memphis, Tenn. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals spotted the Memphis Chicks four runs in the first inning, then roared from behind for a 12-5 victory yesterday.

Attack

The Redbirds included three home runs and seven doubles in their 13-hit attack. The four-baggers came from the bats of Ray Jablonski, Larry Miggins and Les Fusselman.

All the Chicks' runs and six of their hits came off Stu Miller.

Garver Pounded For Five Homers

Columbus, O. (AP)—Detroit pitcher Ned Garver was pounded for five home runs, two of them by centerfielder Gus Bell, as the Cincinnati Redlegs defeated the Tigers, 13-3, in an exhibition baseball game here yesterday.

Big Guns

Bell's two homers, both over the rightfield fence in Red Bird Stadium, accounted for four Redleg runs. Ted Kluszewski added another six runs on a homer and two doubles.

Doctors Believe Lombardi Will Live Despite Suicide Attempt By Former National Leaguer

Oakland, Calif. (AP)—Doctors last night said they think they have won a fight to save the life of Ernie Lombardi, former major league catcher, who attempted suicide Wednesday night.

The big, good-natured "Schnoz"—whose baseball career ran the gamut from batting leader, to World Series goal—lay near death earlier yesterday after slashing his throat with a razor blade.

But spokesmen at Highland Hospital said last night the ex-star was now "off the critical list and doing as well as could be expected."

Harbert Holds Single Stroke Lead In Masters Tournament

Augusta, Ga. (AP)—Husky Chick Harbert, who has come close to a lot of golf titles but never took a big one, provided the one sure thing in a day of confusion as the 17th Masters Tournament began yesterday.

Harbert fired a four-under-par round of 68 over the spacious Augusta National Course and watched it stand up all day as half the challengers wilted under the blazing sun. But there was always someone coming close enough to keep a record first-day crowd of more than 5,000 racing around the course.

And to cap the day's eventful doings, Defending Champion Sam Snead teetered on the edge of disqualification for a moment before some confusion about his score card was cleared up. Snead settled for a one-under par round of 71, which left him in a four-way tie for sixth place.

Actually, Sam scored a 70, matching the totals of 1951 winner Ben Hogan and lean Milan Marusic of Herkimer, N.Y. But his playing partner, Byron Nelson put down a four on Snead's card for the 18th hole instead of the birdie three Sam shot. Snead signed the card without noticing, and when the error was discovered it was ruled that his score had to go in the books the way the card showed.

The one stroke could make a lot of difference, the way the star shotmakers were playing yesterday.

Harbert posted his round of 35-35-68 early in the day. At the windup it was just enough for a one-stroke lead over Ed "Porky" Oliver and big Al Bessellink, two other long-hitters in the pro ranks.

Par for the rolling, 6,900 yard Augusta National Course is 36-36-72.

Under

Nine of the 70 starters came in under that figure. Sharing the 71 bracket with the unfortunate Snead were Ted Kroil of New Hartford, N.Y., Tommy Bolt of Maplewood, N.J., and veteran Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind. Two amateur's Frank Stranahan of Toledo and Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, N.C., and one pro, "Skip" Alexander, had par 72's.

Still very much in the running for the prize money that will be handed out Sunday were such players as National Open Champion Julius Boros, Jim Turnesa, the PGA titleholder, Jimmy Demaret, the only three-time winner of the Master and a flock of others who had 73's and 74's.

Leading Jockey Hurt In Spill

Lincoln Downs, R. I. (AP)—Anthony DeSpirito, leading jockey in the country last year, was injured in a three horse spill at this track yesterday.

At Woonsocket Hospital, the 17-year-old rider was found to have suffered a brain concussion and bruises of the nose, right arm and left thigh. His condition was termed "good" and he is expected to go home today.

Rest

Dr. George Keegan said X-rays disclosed no fractures. He said DeSpirito would not be able to race for "at least 10 days." The current meet at Lincoln Downs ends April 18.

Rain Dampens Baseball In Milwaukee

Milwaukee (AP)—Major league baseball's return to Milwaukee after a half-century absence got a soggy reception yesterday when a drizzling rain halted the exhibition game between the Milwaukee Braves and Boston Red Sox.

An estimated 9,500 fans were in the stands at the new Milwaukee County Stadium for the Braves' debut in the cross-country "city series" with the Sox when time was called after two innings with the American League club in front, 3-0. Weather which had threatened all morning, followed an overnight electrical storm, held down the crowd.

Browns Sell Park To Cardinals

St. Louis (AP)—The St. Louis Browns yesterday sold one of their biggest assets, Sportsman's Park, to their National League rivals, the St. Louis Cardinals. It will now be known as Budweiser Stadium.

Purchase price of the 30,808-seat ball park was $800,000.

It is the first big money deal made by the Cardinals since they were bought by the wealthy Anheuser-Busch Brewery interest last February.

Previously, the Browns had leased the use of the ball park to the Cardinals. The present lease was to have expired in 1960.

August A. Busch, new president of the Cardinals, said in announcing the deal that the Browns have signed a five-year lease for use of Sportsman's Park under Cardinal ownership at an annual rental price of $175,000.

Explanation

In explaining the purchase—once believed a key factor in owner Bill Veeck's unsuccessful plan to move his Browns to Baltimore—Busch said "The park under the Browns was not maintained on a scale we regard as meeting major league standards."

An immediate start on a face-lifting program will be made, Busch said, with a $400,000 make-over project scheduled for 1953.

McCoy Captures Verdict

New York (AP)—Jimmy McCoy, 145, Portland, Ore., won a split decision over Mike Calucci, 147½, New York, in an eight-round welterweight boxing match at Sunnyside Gardens last night.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

First signs of baseball, at least for the current season, were present at Gordon Giffels field yesterday, when a portion of the bleachers were removed from the first base side of the infield and dargled to deep left field, where they will become a permanent fixture. The other bleachers that will run along the first and third base lines have been put in place on the third base side of the infield. All this work began one month after the Stroudsburg School Board ordered the work completed.

The remainder of the bleachers will be moved very soon, but there is still a pile of work to be done before Gordon Giffels field will be ready to play host to any sort of a baseball game. The W. Main St. infield is in sad condition and it will take more than a couple of hours to ready the inner portion of the field for next Friday's tussle between Stroudsburg and Catasauqua. After looking at the field late yesterday, it is this writer's humble opinion that it will take a lot of good hard work to have the field ready for the Lehigh Valley League contest next Friday.

It certainly is unfair to baseball players at Stroudsburg High, as far as having to play baseball without at least a couple of legitimate practice sessions is concerned. The Mountaineers, anxious to land the Lehigh Valley League baseball championship for the second straight year, have been practicing on the softball field at Stroudsburg playground. Under conditions there, the team was deprived of infield practice and could hold batting drills only under the most unfavorable of circumstances.

This year's Stroudsburg team will be virtually the same as the one that brought home the bacon in the championship race last year, with the exceptions of Jack Newell and Alden "Red" Fetherman. It is a shame to hinder the progress of this club, an organization that put baseball interest at an all-time high at the W. Main St. school. Yet, the lack of proper practice facilities certainly didn't do anything to bolster the morale of the 1953 Stroudsburg baseball club, a team with a great chance to repeat as Lehigh Valley League title holder.

As of last night half of the bleachers across the infield still had to be moved and the soft infield needs a lot of work on it prior to opening day. The field right now is covered by ruts, it needs a new home plate and the basepaths must be cleared of large weed patches, if baseball is to be played under favorable circumstances at the W. Main St. school.

There is enough work at Giffels field to keep a couple of men busy for the best part of next week, during which time the Mountaineers still won't be able to practice on the actual playing field. Not only is there plenty of work to be done—but what happens if we have two or three consecutive days of rain next week? Rain of any amount certainly will halt work for at least the time in which the rain actually falls. It wouldn't surprise this scribe even a little bit if Stroudsburg was forced to play its initial baseball game of the campaign on a foreign field.

The Mountaineers will have two strikes against them from the very start of the present season and if the kids go the distance on that last swing they deserve more credit than any other band of athletes to ever play any sports in this area. The club is bound to be cold and very likely on edge as it tangles with the highly regarded Rough Riders of Catasauqua, a team that would probably rather defeat Stroudsburg in baseball than eat steak. Stroudsburg won the 1952 championship last year in a special playoff with this same Catasauqua contingent.

Right now the course is rough, but if work on the local field could be completed before Friday, it would give the team at least an infield drill and such an occurrence might mean a great deal to the Mountaineers. To complete the work before Friday, and do the job correctly, it will take a sizeable group of men and a truly good break from the weatherman. I hope a mixup of this kind never occurs again, as it certainly is unfair to all parties concerned.

Coach Jerry Stulgaitis will have to open the season with exactly the same team that closed out the 1952 campaign, with the exception of third base. The likeable Stulgaitis isn't at all certain that this is his best club, but because of the lack of adequate practice sessions the veteran mentor has been unable to experiment with his lineup. Yet, it is quite possible some of the younger talent may replace the veterans once the season gets underway. Right now the Mountaineers need a lot of good luck and plenty of encouragement.

Montreal Triumphs, 4-2

Montreal, (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens took the lead over the Boston Bruins in the final Stanley Cup playoffs last night, winning the opening game of the series, 4-2, before a crowd of 14,348.

Five Veteran Warriorettes Return To Tennis Squad

Three Lassies Make First Team Threats

Five letter winners of last season are returning to the girls' tennis squad at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, it was announced last night by Coach Mary White-night.

A squad of 12 is currently battling for the seven first team berths, five of which will probably be filled by the returning letter winners.

Those who held first team positions last year and are back for another campaign are Jean Hecht, Elaine Hardenbergh, Mary Martin, Ethel Moyer and Carol Mosser.

Threats

The three girls currently battling for the two remaining positions on the first squad are Nancy Noll, a sophomore, and Marion Loprete and Marilyn Dautrich, a pair of juniors.

Members of the squad earn their positions on the team by playing matches between each other in practice.

Last from last year's squad are Captain Janice Hudack, a graduate, and Pauline Shetlock, who decided not to play tennis this spring.

Miss Shetlock was the only member of last year's ESSTC squad who won every one of her matches. The ESSTC lassies open their six-match schedule on Saturday, April 25, against Ursinus College, on the latter's home courts.

Giants Trip Indians, 7-6

Kingsport, Tenn. (AP)—The New York Giants turned back the Cleveland Indians by one run for the second straight day yesterday, winning, 7-6, before an overflow crowd of 7,114.

The Indians slammed three homers, but were overcome by 11 New York hits and two errors by their second baseman, rookie Doug Hascall.

Ruben Gomez, recently acquired Puerto Rican, succeeded the Giants' Al Corvin in the seventh and retired nine batters in a row.

Baker Suffers Sprained Back

Johnstown, Pa. (AP)—A back sprain forced Bob Baker, Pittsburgh heavyweight, yesterday to cancel his 10-round bout here with Nino Valdes of Havana on April 20.

Order

Dr. Aldo Mazzoni of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission ordered Baker to take a three week rest. The Pittsburgh Negro suffered the injury while working in a steel mill and aggravated the condition in training.

Bruce Cramer, co-sponsor of the fight card, said he is seeking a replacement for Baker.

Pirates Roll Over Yankees

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Home runs by Ralph Kiner, Cal Abrams and Danny O'Connell paced the National League Pittsburgh Pirates to a 10-5 victory over the champion New York Yankees of the American League in Pittsburgh's first exhibition game of the year.

Murry Dickson got credit for the win although he left the mound after giving up nine hits in four innings. Viv Raschi was charged with the loss.

Long Drive

Mickey Mantle homered for the Yankees in the seventh, driving the ball over the right field stands—a feat accomplished only twice

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

British Boxing Board Upsets Plans For World Tournament

London, (AP)—Britain's Boxing Board of Control yesterday announced it would recognize the Randy Turpin-Charles Humez fight as a world championship contest, an act which may torpedo the formation of a world boxing organization.

The BBBC stipulated that the winner of the June 9 fight in London must agree to defend his title against the American champion within 90 days if called on to do so.

In New York, Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said American boxing authorities will not recognize the Turpin-Humez winner as world champion.

Said Christenberry yesterday: "We expect Paddy Young of New York and 'Bobo' Olson of San Francisco to meet for the American championship and we'd like the winner to fight the Turpin-Humez winner for the world championship."

Christenberry had been planning to attend a May 3 meeting in Paris with British and European boxing leaders to discuss the formation of an international boxing board which would rule on world titles. He was to represent the joint board of the New York commission and the NBA.

"I don't know whether I'll make the trip now," said the nettled American.

White Sox Blank Atlanta, 7-0

Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—Saul Rogovin yesterday tuned up for his opening day assignment at Cleveland with a seven-inning stint that helped the Chicago White Sox to a 7-0 blanking of the Atlanta Crackers for their seventh straight victory.

Good Pitching

The White Sox had 16 hits, but lacked real scoring punch until a five-run ninth.

ESSTC To Hold Varsity Show Today

Varsity athletes become actors, musicians and comedians at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, when the school presents its annual Varsity "S" show in the college gymnasium today. The show gets underway at 8 p.m.

All varsity athletic letter winners at the Normal Hill school will take part in the affair, which will feature a minstrel and vaudeville show.

Divide Talents

The athletes will take part in the minstrel show, while other students on the campus take over the vaudeville show. Specially acts will reportedly highlight today's show.

Both men and women students will play important roles in the show. Proceeds from the show will be used to purchase sweaters for the athletes and keys for senior lettermen.

Admission for the annual show is 60 cents.

Tannersville To Hold Supper

Tannersville—The Tannersville entry in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League will hold a Chicken Supper here at the Fire House on Saturday.

Serving will take place between the hours of 5 p.m. and 8 p.m., with an admission price of $1.25 being levied on adults.

Charter Member
The supper is being staged by the baseball club in order to obtain funds with which to support a team during the coming summer months.

Tannersville is a charter member of the PML and is currently hard at work preparing for the opening of the 1953 campaign, on Sunday, May 10.

Mike Grotkowski, shortstop for the Stroudsburg Poconos during a portion of the 1953 Atlantic League campaign, is managing the Tannersville contingent this season.

300 Pints Of Blood April Goal

A quota of 300 pints of blood was set yesterday morning by leaders planning the April 29 campaign to be conducted at East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Meeting in the Methodist parsonage, East Stroudsburg, Red Cross personnel and members of the ministerial committee who are sponsoring the next campaign, urged the quota be met so the yearly goal can be obtained before the July 1 expiration date.

LeRoy Mikels, chairman of the Red Cross blood bank in Monroe County placed emphasis on the coming drive by warning of the approaching polio season. Mikels pointed to gamma globulin, the new weapon against infantile paralysis and a derivative of blood as the main reason why this next blood drive should go over the top.

"The Red Cross has been called upon to expand its defense blood collections to provide the maximum amount of globulin possible," Mikels said.

It takes a little more than one pint of whole blood to produce an average dose of gamma globulin, Mikels explained. This globulin contains antibodies that attack the polio virus. One dose may protect an individual against paralysis from polio for the period of the second through the fifth week following injection.

In addition to providing gamma globulin the Red Cross must continue collecting blood to meet the day-by-day needs of civilian hospitals, of the Korean wounded, and of the nation's plasma reserve, Mikels said.

Since July 1 a total of 864 pints of blood has been used locally, Mikels said. And the supply must be kept up to afford protection to local people and the many thousands who will soon converge on Monroe County as summer vacationists.

Also attending the meeting were Rev. Harold Eaton, pastor of East Stroudsburg Methodist Church where the bloodmobile unit will be stationed; Robert Bixler, publicity director for the county Red Cross branch; Rev. William Wunder, of Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg; Rev. Ernest T. Campbell, of Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church; Joe Webster, program director of Radio Station WYPO and Mrs. Horace Westbrook, social editor of The Daily Record.

Crippler Fights Destroyer

Polio Virus Can Be Grown On Cancer Cells To Provide Early Test, Avert Paralysis

By Alton L. Blakeslee
AP Science Reporter

Chicago, (AP)—Polio virus can be grown on cancer cells to give an early test for polio, perhaps in time to prevent paralysis, scientists reported yesterday.

Done in test tubes, it's another important step against polio. Dramatically it finds cancer, the destroyer, helping combat polio, the crippler.

In 24 to 72 hours, the tests can show whether a person is harboring polio virus in his body, before it has started invading nerves. This knowledge might give time to use gamma globulin or a vaccine to protect the nerves, or to warn a person to take it easy to avoid serious nerve damage.

The tests also might be used to learn which people already have antibodies against one or all three types of polio virus. This could pinpoint those who needed a shot of gamma globulin or a vaccine for protection.

The discovery is that a strain of cancer cells, kept growing in test tubes, will permit rapid growth of polio virus.

To the test tube is added a sample of bowel excretions of the human. If any polio virus was present in his intestines, it grows in the test tubes.

This progress was announced by Doctors Jerome T. Syverton and William F. Scherer, both of the University of Minnesota, to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. Dr. George O. Gey, of Johns Hopkins University, worked with them in this March of Dimes research.

The cancer cells used in the tests were obtained from a human cancer of the cervix at Johns Hopkins in 1951.

It is a pure strain of cells which can be kept growing indefinitely without any change. Thousands of test tubes or cultures containing it could be prepared.

This cancer strain will support growth of all three types of polio virus. Within 12 hours there is evidence that the virus is growing and within 72 hours the original amount of virus has increased one million times.

Thus the test could soon tell whether any person had polio virus. The virus apparently gets into the intestines first, then into the blood stream, and then attacks the nerves.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FRIDAY, APRIL 10, 1953

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—You of indifferent inclinations may regret it for you will have to hustle harder later. Laborious work, urgent matters, study now favored. Be alert.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—May not be brilliant day, but earnest and intelligent effort is never lost; it will repay much in long run. Keep faithfully at task.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Patience, forethought, long standstill now. Be painstaking, especially in important matters. Day not all favorable but good work will help you.

June 21 to July 20 (Cancer)—You will do best to keep uncertainties to a minimum. Keep emotions under sensible control and refuse to be intrigued into extravagance or carelessness.

July 21 to August 20 (Leo)—You could plan and confer today; go slower with tasks to avoid needless errors. Occupational duties, house affairs first honored.

August 21 to September 20 (Virgo)—Mind indications if duties call for a lot of strenuous effort just remember to do your best but without strain. Worry takes.

September 21 to October 20 (Libra)—Your innate sense of balance and fairness very helpful aids this non-temperamental day. But we all can pen up. Improve quality of our work when we put forth that extra effort.

October 21 to November 20 (Scorpio)

Often we accomplish more when we have least outside help. Humans too often lie back waiting when they could be achieving. Today says: "Go!"

November 21 to December 20 (Sagittarius)—Mind the details, the minor remarks and actions, the attitude of associates and yourself. Analyze affairs with shrewd eye, allowing for human faults.

December 21 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Permit your talents to serve wise purposes only and your inherent dignity and wholeheartedness will win high laurels.

January 21 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Many things go into making a worthwhile day, regardless of the nature. Where stability of character reigns not much can go wrong. Keep smiling.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—The little stream of feeling counts greatly with the well developed Pisces nature, but know, too, the value of a "rough diamond" in business and private life. It can help.

YOU BORN TODAY are fiery, sometimes quick-tempered, always busy, ready for action. Things being normal, should have due physical endurance, and mental ability to be highly interesting companion, lecturer, writer. Curb impulsiveness, jealousy. Pray for God's grace, guidance. Mind associates. Birthdate of: Many American notables.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numbered board designed to hold out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 6. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
